'Success comes only to those who believe in themselves and are prepared to win'

Exams are round the corner. Examination days are stressful and crucial for all of you. It is the time when all your hardwork is about to pay off. It is true that exams bring anxiety, stress, frustration which may take a toll on your mental health and well being. An exam is not only the assessment of the academic knowledge you have gained throughout the year but also the test of your calmness, stability, courage and positive attitude. If you feel overwhelmed with anxiety, you don't need to panic or be nervous and scared. Just keep on putting your most sincere efforts and leave rest to the Almighty. Your confidence, determination and hard work will help you to come out with flying colours. Remember, you are not alone. We, the staff members, are always there for you to take care of all your fears and concerns. I urge all of you to not only work hard but also take a very good care of yourself. Take healthy and balanced diet. Plan your time diligently so that you get enough time for rest and fun. I wish all the success for your exams.

May good luck follow you throughout your exams and always.
